

SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:18

Charles Perry, then Robert Sartwell, then the owner, Victor Miles, identified the Farm of the Week last week as that of Mr. Miles. A story of this set-up appears in another part of this issue.

The current question, however, is whose property is the property shown on this page this week. The owner can get a mounted picture, like that shown, if he will call at the GCW and identify the picture. While here we'd like to get some data on the property so that a story can appear next week.

Jitney Jungle, who sponsors this series of farm pictures, and the GCW have at long last got a NOVEL and interesting series of pictures for Grenada County.

His many old friends in Grenada County will be happy to hear that, while Mr. Will Criss is getting old and feeble, he gets the very best of care from the hands of his daughter, Miss Wilma Criss, in the Criss home in West Point. He would be most happy if any old friend, passing thru West Point, would drop by the Criss home to visit with Mr. Will.

Mr. Rhoades, the little dude who is helping the GCW get up a special edition about a timely topic, Juvenile Delinquency, bears this endorsement from the GCW: whatever he tells folks the GCW will do, the GCW will do.

Miss Lizzie Horn has been teaching in Grenada 47 years and is to be honored here Tuesday, May 18 th, by having a 'Lizzie Horn' Day. In her honor, wear a red rose that day, and attend a program on the campus of the elementary school at 2:30 that afternoon. Her program is to be sponsored by the PTA.

Soil Conservators Rex Blue and P. R. Daly mingled with the big shots of the Delta Council in Cleveland Tuesday.

While old Orley Lilly is mighty busy since he combined his Ford business and his Ford tractor business to be located at the Oliver-Lilly old stand on Commerce Street, little John, who has temporarily discontinued his study of the Morse Code, is now engaged in learning typewriting on an old machine his daddy gave him. Smart kid!

Before the legislature met, Billy Semmes and William Winter collaborated in writing a piece for the GCW about what they hoped to do. We are now asking them to collaborate in telling the folks, in a concise way, what the legislature actually did.

Jack Lollar at Tom Nely's place is another citizen who has been ruined, as he caught several small fish at End Tuesday, when he and Andrew should have been working.

Speaking of Mr. Curt Guy, who remembers when he lived in the brick home now occupied by Ralph Semmes and that Mr. Guy's horse lot and barn were on the spot now occupied by Cobb Trusty's home?

And, here are two new subscribers, Victor Miles of Route 4, and Jerome Aldridge of North Commerce. Some get cut off; some are added.

Remember, you folks whose farm homes appear in the GCW can get additional pictures of the same size, bigger size, and postal-card size at reasonable cost from the GCW.

Judging from our correspondence with these Iowa boys who make these aerial pictures, they are very human fellows and, I hope some day, I will get to know them personally. You see, I ain't never seen them, and they ain't never seen me. I don't even know what picture is NEXT.

There is just a handful of folks like Avent McElwath, Jim Cuff, Roy Doak, William Wright, Herman Heath and me who even remember Frank Thomas, born here 65 years ago, who died in California Tuesday. Time moves on.

It looks, for the moment, that the CM form of government here is 'set', unless something messy pops up again.

At long last, I am happy to report, the county has changed much for the better the method of dividing up the 'car money' between the several beats.

National Armed Forces Week Being Observed Here

ARMORY DEDICATED

(By Hugh Ketchum)

National Armed Forces Week is being observed in Grenada this week, climaxing with formal dedication of the new National Guard Armory between seven and nine o'clock Saturday night. During those hours coffee and light refreshments will be served to the public and a short formal dedication program will be held.

Observance of Armed Forces Week officially began Tuesday noon when the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs held a joint luncheon to hear Col. Charles C. Andrews of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, stress the seriousness of the present world situation and emphasize the importance of maintaining a strong offensive power to assure our nation of an adequate defense. He pointed out the importance of having well trained National Guard and Reserve organizations.

Open house will be held at the new $56,000 National Guard Armory Saturday afternoon and night and again Sunday afternoon. Actual training demonstrations will be held for the visitors by members of Hq. & Hq. Battery, the local unit commanded by Lt. George Granberry. The Grenada unit is the headquarters for the 234th FA Bn., composed of batteries in Okolona, Winona, Eupora and Durant. Col. Harold Biddy is commanding officer of the entire battalion.

County To Divide Money According To Road Mileage

ONLY 1 BUG IN DEAL

At a recess meeting of the Grenada County Board of Supervisors, held last Friday, the supervisors agreed to change the method of dividing 'car money' among the five beats in the following manner, beginning October 1, 1954, the beginning of the county's fiscal year:

From the whole amount of money, received from the Sheriff for car tags, and the money received from the state as the county's part of the excise tax on gasoline, each beat will first receive $309.00 a month. The remainder of the money will then be divided among the beats in accordance with number of roads each beat has to maintain.

Engineer Dick Smith recently measured the roads in each beat and determined that Beat 1 had 19.3 miles; Beat 2, 19.6 miles; Beat 3, 45.2 miles; Beat 4, 34.4 miles; Beat 5, 10.0 miles. These are the figures that will be used as official figures for dividing the money.

For many years, each beat has received one one-fifth of the money, regardless of road mileage.

"PRAYER LIFE DAY" IS FRIDAY, MAY 28

Mrs. Louise Eggleston Is Among Leaders

Mrs. Louise Eggleston, of Norfolk, Virginia, will be one of the Leaders in the Prayer Life Mission, at the Grenada Methodist Church, Friday, May 28. According to the pastor, the Rev. F. A. Sutphin, the purpose of the Mission is to emphasize the vital importance of Prayer in the Life of the Church and Community and set up Prayer groups which will continue as a permanent part of the church. It is hoped, says the Rev. Sutphin, that this day, May 28, will have such a spiritual significance for our church and community that it will never be forgotten.

Mrs. Louise Eggleston is state chairman of the Spiritual Life Committee of the WSCS of the Methodist Churches of Virginia. Besides an effective speaker, she is a prodigious writer. Dr. Frank Lauback, world literary leader, has requested Mrs. Eggleston to write a series of 'World Literary Prayer Booklets.' She devotes much time to the World Literary Prayer Group. Mrs. Eggleston has probably established more prayer groups throughout the Southern part of the U. S. than anyone living today.

The Prayer Life Mission will include inspiration messages by the Leaders, discussion groups, visitation in homes, hospitals, and jails, a public service on the city square at the noon hour and various devices to suggest Prayer throughout the city.

The Prayer Life Mission in Grenada is probably the first of its kind to be held but it is hoped that it may be the beginning of a Prayer Movement that would sweep over the whole nation.

The Mayor of Grenada has declared May 28th, 'Prayer Life Day' and with it a cordial invitation to friends throughout the state to attend. The program begins promptly at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

FOREST

(By Shirley Whitaker, Age 11)

That word has a lot of meaning in the American Way of Living. Forests give us homes, paper, factories, churches, toys, medicines, and many other useful things.

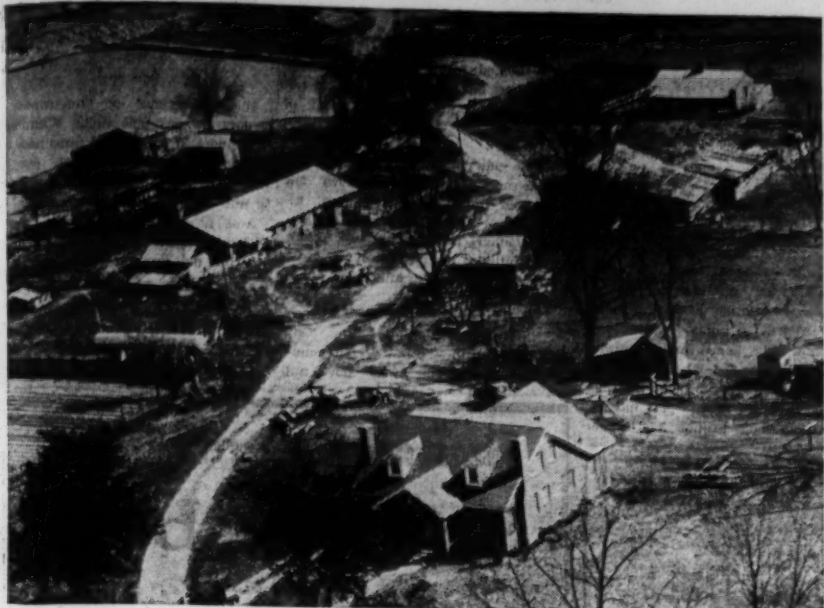

My class has been learning about Forest Conservation for several weeks. We have read books drawn pictures, made posters, and written plays. I think that we have learned a lot, but there is more to learn.

The forests have helped us, so let's help the forest, by Preventing Forest Fires!

"Farm of the Week" Last Week

—This Series Sponsored by Jitney-Jungle, Grenada.

Depicted above is the farm home and farm headquarters of Mr. Victor Miles which are located about 3 miles south of Grenada on the old 'cinder road' (the first improved road in the county) leading from Grenada to Tie Plant.

Brief History of Land

Mr. Miles land is 300 plus acres of the Mitchell old plantation, bought from the government by Mr. John T. Mitchell who moved to this section back in the 1940s from North Carolina. The entire Mitchell holdings, on both sides of Bogue Creek, consisted of about 2000 acres. When the estate of the elder Mr. Mitchell was settled, the land was divided so that, most of the land on the west side of Bogue Creek went to his son, the late William M. Mitchell, and most of the land on the east side of Bogue went to a daughter, Mrs. Estes. Mr. Miles' holdings came from the land which Mr. W. M. Mitchell inherited. Some of the original lands still belong to Mr. W. M. Mitchell's widow, while much of the Estes' part belongs to her heirs. The entire plantation bore the name Myrtle Vale, and, among oldtimers is still known as that.

About Miles' Operation

Until 1951, when Mr. Miles bought the land, the historic old manor house, Myrtle Vale, which was built of choice materials, then abundant, in 1949, still stood. The handsome new home, containing 6 bedrooms, sits on the same site that the old mansion did. Mr. Miles, a lumberman, used finest available material in the construction of his new home, as the picture will reveal.

The old manor house, now entirely torn away, withstood the ravages of time and weather for over a century. Mr. Miles and wife, the former Miss Dorothy Edwards of Banner, Calhoun County, and their 9 children, both are natives of Calhoun County. In cultivation of his land, he has three tractors and a few mules. He runs about 60 head of cattle on the improved pastures and had 60 acres of cotton last year - but considerably less cotton this year. It is his practice to have cover crops every year on all of his tilled acres. He practices accepted usages in soil conservation.

DO YOU HAVE A 4-F IN YOUR FAMILY?

Freezer for Fresh Frozen Foods

(By Mary Elizabeth Sanders, Home Economist for M.P.L. Co., Grenada)

The freezing of foods is one of the easiest things in the world to do. All you have to do is have good fresh food, the proper wrapping equipment, and know how to prepare it for the freezer.

To have fresh foods when you remove them from the freezer, you must have fresh foods when you put the min. This is contrary to the rumor going around that stale bread when frozen will become fresh. Some housewives have been buying stale bread at a reduced price, freezing it, and expecting it to turn out a fresh product, which is impossible.

The housewife can use almost any approved equipment that she cares to use for packaging food. Aluminum foil, freezer paper with freezer tape, or polyethylene bags are usually used for meats; plain round cardboard cartons, cardboard cartons with plastic or polyethylene bags, clean empty milk cartons sealed with freezer tape, plastic boxes, or tightly sealed fruit jars are best for fruits and vegetables.

Cooked foods may be easily frozen for use when mother takes a day off or unexpected company comes in, or just to have it ready whenever you want it. When freezing cakes that are iced, freeze before wrapping to keep the frosting from sticking to the paper. Those cakes that aren't iced should be wrapped before. Also, whole meals may be frozen together by placing individual servings on special equipment made for that purpose.

Sausage may be frozen and still retain its original flavor if the seasoning is omitted and added when ready for use.

Leftover meats are nice to make into sandwiches and freeze for school lunches or for picnics so they won't have to be done at the last minute. Just place them in the lunch basket frozen and by the time you are ready to eat them they will be thawed.

Food freezers cost very little to operate—just about 6c per day for the average user. An average family will use around 50 kilowatt hours a month.

If you need any advice on do's and don'ts of freezing, I will be glad to help you. Also, I have some freezer guides I will be glad to give you if you will come by the office.

If you don't have a freezer, then get one for THE MODERN MRS. WANTS THE BEST — Be Modern — Freeze Electrically.

—Sportsmans Column—

(By C. C. Hamby, Sr.)

Looks like we had a short summer. This is one cause of a short biting period for fish, the so-called blackberry winter also has stopped the fish from biting. Too much fresh water, add all this together and you have no condition that has been favorable to catch fish. Of course, when you go fishing you would like to catch fish; even if you do not catch fish, you go right back again as in the case of not dozen, but the thousands you see on the lakes and dam areas in every hollow, every creek and banks are lined up. Some catch fish but most of them don't. What causes some of us to go to a certain spot is we get a report that you sure can catch the big ones there as so and so caught 4 crappie that weighed 12 lbs., or so and so caught 9 that weighed 19 1/2 lbs. I've heard all of this but I never see the fish or see them weighed. I heard all about the average 2 lb. crappie being caught over in the Delta, Beula Lake, Lake Washington, Lake Lee, Whittington's Lake I made a trip to each of these lakes and fished each one of them three weeks ago. Yes, I caught a few fish, and I saw over 300 crappie caught and I have my first one to see that would weigh 2 lbs. I've caught larger crappie on Sardis and Enid than I saw caught on these lakes. Sam Irby and I caught 40 crappie on Sardis that were weighed by three different persons, and they weighed 50 lbs. Sam and I did not cull a fish, we kept the first 40. Now beat this one! Sardis seems to be the hottest spot for crappie, bream or bass. Also the cat fish are being caught in large numbers and lbs. I was on Hurricane Creek Landing over the weekend and saw these fish. I caught the limit of large crappie and I mean large ones. Sardis is not up much, water was a little dingy, but not muddy as they did not have the rain in that vicinity as we did around here.

Enid is a sight to see, and you will learn something new about fishing up there. As a person mentioned to me, it's educational to watch them fish Enid.

Some of the lakes are in fine shape and fish are being caught. Come by our place of business or phone us and we will tell you where to fish and what to fish for and how they are catching fish

—Chapel Hill Club Met—

The Chapel Hill Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Jeff Marter, with Lillie and Mrs. T. J. Marter, Jr. as co-hostesses, Tuesday May 4th with 13 members present. We had two visitors, Mrs. Eskridge Carver and Mrs. Earl Carver, Miss Grace Childs gave the devotional, which included the Lord's Prayer. A song was sung. The roll call was answered by 'a quality I like in a woman.'

Had the Re-creation with Mrs. Earl Carver winning the prize. Mrs. H. V. Phillips gave a demonstration on 'Different Kinds of Bugs For the Garden'. Miss Bervil Elder HD agent, demonstrated on 'Different Kind of Style and How to Try to Direct yourself.'

The hostesses served refreshments. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Essie Shaw in June.

—LIBRARIANS ON TOUR—

Instead of the annual workshop at Jackson, the Miss. Library Commission has arranged a tour of North Miss. Libraries. The group will leave Jackson and go by Greenwood, Clarksdale, Batesville, Oxford, Tupelo, Pontotoc, West Point and Meridian. The local Librarians will be hostesses at each place and will have their libraries on dress parade. The tour has been worked out so that as many types of libraries as possible can be visited and thus all kinds of problems will be discussed.

This is a fine way to see how others meet similar problems, to visit points in the state other than in your immediate community, and to know the workers in the state who are struggling in the same field of endeavor. A grand swapping of ideas, friendly arguments, and good suggestions will be the order of the day. We are wondering if the driver has ear muffs to save him from the yak-yak of shop-talk that will be sailing all over the bus.

Elizabeth Jones of Grenada County Library will join the tour at Batesville and continue with it to Jackson.

New Books At Library

FARM NOTES

I get nostalgic sometimes about saving hay. Back when I lived at Oxberry, I was perhaps the biggest saver of baled hay in the county. It was my policy to plant in lespedeza every bit of idle land which was lying out. I used to think I was a hay-saver out of the book, but when I once went to Wayside with Ed James and saw how his boys were saving hay with then new-fangled outfit, I took my sign down and confessed that my horse-powered equipment was just as much out of date as the old fashioned scythe. In the meantime, MORE modern hay-saving equipment is being used, putting me and my old methods further and further in the background. A 'good' day for me and perhaps 15 men was 300 bales. Today, such an output would be sneezed at. Yet, my old 'hands' and I frequently talk about the 'good times' we had saving hay. As I look back, hay-saving time stands out as a most pleasant interlude in my life.

Folks at Oxberry finally learned to plant their turnips after I finished saving hay because they sincerely thought rain would not fall on my hay.

I always put farmers in two classes: grass-killers and grass-users. By and large most farmers now are both grass-killers in their cultivated acres and grass-users in their improved pastures. In that way, if rain ruins their cotton and corn, it will MAKE their pastures. A rain, even a big one, will not ruin ALL of their prospects.

Mr. Will Martin, who quit killing grass fifty years ago, died as one of the wealthiest men in the county. He did not have a row of anything on his big place. Mr. Will, probably, lead this county away from grass-killing on its previous tremendous scale.

I used to say, and still do: by and large the grass-killer lives in a shack, wears ragged britches, eats corn bread and pork salad, and is always in debt; while the grass-user lives in a mansion, wears good clothes, eats caviar and always has his own money. Just look around YOUR neighborhood and see!!

CHICKEN AND RICE SALAD
Miss Mary McMeekin, Chief Food Economist with Rice Consumer Service, sent the recipe which is being featured in today's column.

This recipe should appeal to homemakers who need to stretch the food budget and to homemakers who like to cook with cold—the cold of your electric refrigerator.

There is more to this salad than meets the eye. Underneath the snow white surface of this "Chicken and Rice Salad" is goodness that will bring an exclamation of "THIS IS WONDERFUL" to the lips of all who taste it.

Mold the salad in an interesting shape if you wish, or let it congeal in a square or oblong pan. Serve it on a bed of greens, or garnish it with a product of your imagination.

What is important is to experience the flavor of this marvelous tasting "Chicken and Rice Salad" which won a first place award in the rice and meat division of the Creole Rice Cookery Contest at the 1951 International Rice Festival.

INGREDIENTS

3-1/2 cups diced boiled chicken
1 cup cold boiled rice
3/4 cups chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
1 tablespoon chopped sour pickle
6 chopped stuffed olives
12 pecan halves chopped
1/2 tablespoon chopped parsley
2/3 cups mayonnaise
2/3 cups whipped cream
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 cups cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of black pepper and red pepper

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice: Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt in a two-quart saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Bring to a vigorous boil and then turn the heat as low as possible—leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. This cooking time results in firm grains of cooked rice. (For extra tender grains, allow the rice to steam (with heat off) an additional 5 minutes before removing the lid.)

Never remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. After rice is cooked, remove lid, lift rice gently with fork to allow rice to steam dry to the desired consistency. It is then ready—perfectly cooked and the grains will be separate and fluffy. This method allows all the water to be absorbed and the full nutritional value of the rice to be retained.

Keep left-over cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container at all times. You will find it convenient for making many quick, easy and delicious dishes.

METHOD: Combine chicken, rice, celery, green pepper, sour pickle, olives, pecans and parsley. Add mayonnaise and whipped cream. Add the gelatin which has softened in cold water for 5 minutes and has been melted over hot water. Cool. Add the salt, pepper and paprika. Mix all the ingredients well and chill in a mold or pan.

This recipe makes eight servings.

Mr. Rolfe Jones, who owned Troy, was one of the few men of Grenada County who did not go busted killing grass.

I know I, and thousands of others went busted killing grass, and would have gone busted sooner if I had not saved a lotta grass in the form of baled hay.

I am glad to see that Junius Townes is not going to tear down the Lake old home, but will restore it.

One fellow at Oxberry was talking about pulling up his cotton and re-setting it on clean ground. Not a bad idea!!

I have found out one thing. Cattle will multiply even if you have to buy new cattle every now and then. Hogs, it looks like, will take care of their own multiplication problems.

Ellett Lawrence of Greenwood, in a sort of nostalgic mood Wednesday afternoon, dropped his business interests a while and drove over to visit with Ralph Semmes, Cobb Trusty and me. Cobb was at Cascilla and I was at the picture show, yet it was mighty nice of Ellett to remember his old cronies.

A religious film will be shown in Pleasant Grove Church each first and third Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to be present.

SEEN, HEARD & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

was in to see you, but no see.

In many respects, 'Miss Nan' McCormick is remarkable. She, I know, is not dead with old age or anything like that, but, certainly, she is no spring chicken. Yet, she works all day every day. She has 3 or 4 grown sons, all doing well in the automobile business and she seems to be as spry as a cricket, always busy. I remember this, too, as a gal, she was about the prettiest gal in Grenada, nor has time erased all of her beauty. Like her brother, H. K. Barwick in Wynn, Arkansas, I understand she is still devoted to music, and has in her home a console organ from whose music she gets a lot of enjoyment.

I saw ex-Mayor Proby toting a fishing pole down Green Street sady.

There are many brave elderly ladies in Grenada but none braver in meeting their physical adversities than Misses Mary and Belle Knox whose home is near the square on Line Street.

The Mystery Farm of The Week series, put on by Al Gully of Jitney Jungle and the GCW, is meeting more and more appreciation by readers. Readers are beginning to look for the picture even before they read my crap, they say.

If Grenada names a Mother of the Andrew has been ruined a long time, as he goes fishing every week end.

The Grabbers

Lesson for May 16, 1954

ONCE there was a little boy who went to a party. His sister Annie was invited but she was sick and couldn't go. When the party was over the lady of the house gave each little guest a sack of chocolates. The little boy got two, one for himself and one for his sister, just alike. On the way home he stumbled his toe, fell down, and when he fell one of the paper sacks broke and the chocolates spilled into the road. "Poor Annie!" he said. We are all like that little boy. There is something in each of us that wants more than half of everything. If anybody is going to take a loss, let it be some one else! One car will pass another and perhaps the driver of the car being passed (if he has no manners) will yell out of the window: "Road Hog!" As a matter of fact, isn't a road hog just a person who takes the wide share of the road you'd like to have yourself?

Greed and Deceit

You might think the little boy in the story would be less of a grabber when he grows up; but he may be worse by that time. You might think people could be cured of being greedy by giving everybody just exactly the same; but there would be any number of schemers figuring how to get their share increased. You might think people could be cured of the grab-habit, by letting them have all they want; but that seldom works, because some of the greediest people in history have been people who had more than any of their neighbors. The Bible story of Ahab and the vineyard of Naboth is a case in point. It isn't a story of the poor stealing from the rich, it is the story of the rich stealing from the poor, which after all is a rather common occurrence. The story of Ahab also illustrates some notable facts about this thing called Greed. One is that greed and deceit go hand in hand. Ahab told some terrific lies, and got others to do the same, all because he wanted Naboth's vineyard. When Hitler was on the rise, he made the solemn statement that all he wanted was the little area of the Sudetenland; what he really wanted was all of Europe, only it would never have suited his schemes to say so. When a poor man gets into the clutches of a loan shark, he is never told at first what the rate of interest is. When the St. Louis Post-Dispatch back in 1898 justly accused some prominent citizens of having accepted a quarter of a million dollars in bribes, of course those gentlemen denied the whole thing. Your greedy man—or for that matter the greedy corporation—all the way from the simple robber who pretends to be the night watchman, up to the monopoly that overcharges the public—never likes the light of truth on the operation.

Greed and Murder

When a murder has been committed, almost the first question the police ask is: "Who stands to make money by this crime?" Murders are about as common in the country as in the city, in proportion to the population. What is the story back of killings in the farmlands? Very often it is some quarrel about a boundary line, about some stock, about the price of land or produce. Not all murders are for the sake of gain; but if a man is greedy enough, he will not stop at murder. Penitentiaries contain many a "lifer" who would not be there today if he had not been a greedy man.

The Prophetic Spirit

There must have been thousands of Israelite citizens who knew Ahab was a greedy murderous scoundrel. But it took the prophet Elijah to come out with the truth in plain language. Prophets are not always wild figures in hair-cloth robes. They are not always even preachers. A newspaper can have the prophetic spirit. That St. Louis paper, for instance, broke the Teapot Dome scandal; it exposed a half-million dollar "slush fund" spent by a utility company to bribe a legislature; it defeated a Democrat for governor who had tried to steal the election; and it defeated a Republican by showing that his party was tied up with those number-one Grabbers, the big-time gamblers. The spirit of Elijah is not dead; otherwise the grabbers might inherit the earth. and pastures along the Illinois Central as pictured here can mean the maximum yields per acre according to L. H. Stubblefield, Agri. Agt., I. C. R. R. A portable irrigation system will prove profitable on any crop provided the gross income, due to irrigation, is $25.00 or more per acre. A farmer like a manufacturer cannot afford in his highly competitive business not to install equipment which will enable him to double and often times triple his output.

Based on past figures for the county as a whole, the cost of a complete irrigation system, on a per acre basis will run between $60.00 and $125.00 per acre. In figuring cost, a big factor is the water supply. It takes 30,000 gallons of water to put one inch of water on one acre of land; or to express it another way, a farmer would need to pump 500 gallons a minute for an hour to put one inch of water on one acre.

Irrigation is a sure means to maximum yields of all crops, and there is no question of its need and place in agriculture. There will be more progress made in farm irrigation in the next several years, because of the need of more profits through maximum yields per acre than in any other phase of agriculture.

Uptown Grenada Dresses Windows In Martial Manner

In observance of Armed Forces Day, a number of uptown merchants used their display windows to exhibit some of the equipment necessary particularly for artillery-men, of whom Grenada furnishes an artillery battalion.

Dated on the west side of the square has such things as a Browning machine gun, a .30 caliber carbine, a .45 sub-machine gun and a 35 rocket thrower, or bazooka. Jitney Jungle has on display the various cooking equipment useful in field operations.

Heath Bros. show a complete outfit of clothing necessary for one soldier, including a carbine.

White Way Cleaners uses most of its display window space in showing radio equipment, field telephone equipment, a walkie-talkie and other Signal Corps equipment.

Parked on the east side of the square in the shadow of the marble Confederate sentinel is an immense self-propelled 155MM gun, capable of sending a missile from Grenada to Winona or to Calhoun City. The speed of the contraption is 24 MPH and it requires a crew of 8 men.

A New Queen is Crowned... Long Live the King!

EACH YEAR it happens in Memphis. May brings the Cotton Carnival and the coronation of a radiant new Queen and her King. But the loudest cheers are for the old monarch, King Cotton, who almost lost his throne to an insect - the boll weevil.

Old timers remember those grim days. Cotton farmers stood helpless while their only cash crop was ravaged. The economy of the entire South was shaken.

Joining forces with state agriculturists, the Illinois Central sent train after train through the cotton lands, demonstrating to tens of thousands of farmers ways to combat the pest. The railroad also showed farmers how to raise diversified cash crops. Fine bulls were provided to improve dairy herds and butter makers were brought in to establish local markets for milk.

The boll weevil fight is now agricultural history. But the Illinois Central has never relaxed its program of help for farmers... showing the way toward the improvement of soil, crops, pastures and dairy herds and stimulating the planting of millions of trees as cash crops for the future.

The success of these efforts is reflected in the gaiety of present day Cotton Carnivals. These celebrations also attest the soundness of the creed the Illinois Central has subscribed to for a century - that helping its friends and neighbors in agriculture and industry is the best way of helping the railroad.
